READY TO ORGANIZE.

CAUCUS OF THE DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATORS.

Nominations for Officers of the House of Delegates and of the Senate—Personnel of the Body—Republicans Take no Action.

At noon today the Legislature of Virginia will meet at the Capitol. The plan for the first session was mapped out in caucuses of the Democratic members of both houses last night in the Capitol. Shortly after 8 o'clock members of the House began to pour in, and the caucus was called to order, and John F. Ryan, of Loudoun, was nominated and unanimously elected chairman, Mr. James Hay, who represents Greene and Madison counties, took the floor and nominated for Speaker Hon. Richard H. Caldwell, of Hanover, who has served up to the present time so efficiently as the successor of Hon. Charles E. Stuart. Mr. Caldwell had no opposition, and was elected by acclamation. Mr. John Bell Bigger was nominated by acclamation Clerk of the House and Keeper of Records. The news was received in the lobby with expressions of delight, notwithstanding the fact that there has never been any opposition to Mr. Caldwell.

Hon. W. D. Abney, of Albemarle, nominated Mr. J. P. Martin, incumbent, for position of sergeant-at-arms, and he was elected.

First Doorkeeper Arthur Sullivan, a well-known figure in the House, having served successively for three terms, was reelected to his old place. Mr. W. P. Dupay was selected.

Mr. W. D. Hayes was elected doorkeeper for the first ballot.

A committee consisting of Hon. John L. Hart, Mr. Pendleton, Mr. Jones, Miss Blackstone, Jones, Berry, Weston, and Lovestine, was elected to select a Senate committee, and report to adjourned meeting of the convention, to consider the propriety of this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when probably the time for a future meeting of the convention will have been announced at the adjournment of the Senate.

CONFIRMATION FOR THE SENATE.

The Senate conference was called to order by Senator William Lovestine, of Richmond, who was afterwards made secretary of the conference.

Hon. John L. Hart was nominated chairman and the first business being the selection of a committee to consider the election of Mr. Hart to the Senate.

Mr. W. D. Hayes was elected doorkeeper for the first ballot.

A committee consisting of Hon. John L. Hart, Mr. Pendleton, Mr. Jones, Berry, Weston, and Lovestine, was elected to select a Senate committee, and report to adjourned meeting of the convention, to consider the propriety of this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when probably the time for a future meeting of the convention will have been announced at the adjournment of the Senate.

The following pages for the Senate were arranged for distribution by Mr. Hart, and Mr. Pendleton, and Mr. Jones, and Mr. Lovestine, and Charles D. Hart, who were to be appointed to the Senate. The conference adjourned shortly after the caucus did, which was shortly after 10 o'clock.

THE PERSONNEL OF THE BODY.

There was a bomb thrown in the ranks of the candidates for the position of Superintendent of Public Instruction. Dr. J. L. Buchanan has written a letter to which he attached a copy of his former professor, Mr. Edward C. Glass, of Lynchburg, as his successor. Dr. Buchanan says that he does this on account of the eminent educational qualifications he has in favor of Mr. Glass. This is a letter of protest, and Dr. Buchanan is received with alacrity on educational topics. He is not a candidate and says so very decided.

ATTENDANTS OF THE CAUCUS.

There was some sprightly scuffling for the minor offices, but it did not amount to a boom. Friends of the basement officers, to be sure, did their best to help them along, ever for the purpose of putting in the best brawls they could for their favorites, and their presence lent spice to the proceedings, and gave animation to the gathering. The lobby was well filled, on that latter account, and there was plenty of talk and activity and sometimes a freedom of expression that cracked soundly of the deep interest that some members felt in the convention because it was to be arrived at. Now and then a brawling skirmish was to be seen, but nothing was pending was prominent in all that was said by him.

THE REPUBLICAN GATHERING.

The Republicans also held a caucus, Senator McDonald, a staunch Republican, said that he had almost broken himself down walking around to find some Republicans to support him. He said he succeeded in getting a quorum, and came to the conclusion, after mature deliberation, that they would make no nominations for any offices, after which the caucus in good order adjourned sine die.

AN ORGANIZATION MEETING.

One who has seen many legislatures, said nothing of this sort has been seen here since the great upheaval of States. A Democratic Legislature—say, fourteen Republicans. A gathering of men well used to the equities and anomalies of life—thoughtful, considerate men, armed with sufficient authority to discuss and enact laws for the benefit, not of a party, but of a man, for all men.

"That there is vigorous strife for office is not denied.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Masonic Temple Association, held in the office of the grand secretary, 916 Main, and Ninth streets, was well represented, there being 4,932 shares listed at present out of a total of 4,958.

THE FOLLOWING MEMBERS ADDED AS THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

Mr. E. W. Walker, Jr., W. E. Tanner, A. R. Courtney, S. T. Tower, J. C. Cabell, John F. Mayer, J. V. Budger, C. Wingard, and J. H. Capers. Past Grand Master R. W. Wellford, Jr., was re-elected Grand Master, and the hall where supper was served.

The Grand Lodge will meet at St. Albans Hall on December 10th, at 6 P. M., and will be in session three days.

The American Clothing Company has a wonderful personality, and her voice is particularly musical and shows benefit of careful and well-directed training. Her dramatic powers of expression are refined, subtle and intense. In the comedy role of Julian, she finds rare scope for the portrayal of her versatility. She possesses genuine grace, and may feel assured of a hearty reception whenever she visits Richmond again.

At the matinee today "The Lady of Lyons" will be given, and to-night she will appear in the beautiful role of "Gretchen," with which she will close her engagement.

RICHMOND WILL WELCOME THEM.
